Open	104 Ginny Cobley	Just Steve	7	8.5	7	22.5	Comment studge of	Great expression! The heavy vignette along the subjects top right is a bit of a distraction.
Variable	104 Ginny Cobley	Sunrise-Nain,Labrador	7.5	7	7			The gold tones radiate warmth from my screen. When composing images like this consider how the frame can be filled with interest. This would benefit from a strong focal point in the foreground to balance with that sun.
Open	104 Ginny Cobley	Warkworth, Northumberland	7.5	8	7	21.5		Often I will grade a 'scape down if it doesn't have a prominent focal point in the foreground, but I love the layers to be had here and how the image is truly a tale of thirds in how the image "stacks" from bottom to top.

While this one has people turned away from the camera, the image is successful because of the spread of subjects and the tone that comes from the color grading of this image. Nicely done. Processing is a bit heavy on this one. Ge Points for the corposition, thought is would benefit from removing some of is the excess negative space on the Nice dynamic composition, thought is mage. dealing with negative space in the foreground and clouds in unbalanced positions makes finding the right composition tough.
